

WALL STREET BOOT CAMP

"Learn What your Broker Does Not Want You to Know"

PART II

David O. England is an Associate Professor of Finance at John A. Logan College. Founder of the very popular website www.thetraderseye.com, publisher of the monthly "Executive Summary" whitepaper and weekly Eye On the Market. You can see and hear David discussing the stock market events and opportunities on his frequent TV and radio segments. On one of his TV appearances in 2007, David said it was time to take some profits. In 2008, before the start of the major crash, David advised viewers it was time to sell and take profits because there was a financial storm brewing. Those who took his advice were very glad they did!

If you are tired of your broker/salesman making money when you are losing money, or not having a clue to what they are saying, then this lecture series is for you! In these seminars David will share his outlook on what he believes is in store for the stock market.

David is known for taking complex material and breaking it down into easy to grasp steps. Known for his humor and common-sense approach, he brings a refreshing blend of academia and trading experiences into the classroom.

Be ready for what is to come. Sign up for one or all of David's NEW Boot Camp seminars. See you in class!
