Reject Code on FAFSA

Information Required from Student

Your FAFSA application shows that you are currently in an eligibility hold with the Department of Education. Your eligibility for financial aid cannot be determined until you resolve this reject code status with the Department of Education.

You will need to call (202) 377-3889 to resolve this issue. The Financial Aid Office will require you to bring documents from the Department of Education showing you are no longer in this status in order to determine your eligibility for financial aid at John A. Logan College.
